Detects problem registry keys and files Repairs problem registry keys and files Your computer should be fast and stable. It's not the first time we use the term  hijack.  You can think of this as  malware.  Because  hijackers  will change your Windows settings and behavior to their benefit.  Hijackers  are potentially harmful programs that can hijack your Windows settings. For example,  adware  is one kind of  hijacker.  Adware is a software program that is installed on your computer without your knowledge and consent. Adware will change your browser and search setting to its benefit. It is a malicious program that may harm your computer in various ways. For example,  adware  can change your browser setting to  home page,  search engine,  search  and  bookmark.  You can't tell what is harmful and what is not until you use it.  Hijackers  are a potential threat to your Windows environment. Other Programs that change Windows settings: So called  malware  programs can change your Windows setting to  home page,  search engine,  search  and  bookmark.  So, it is very important to know  hijackers.  In Windows you can use the  Run a scan  option to check if there are  hijackers.  Using  Registry Rinse : How does it work? This registry repair program looks for invalid registry settings and restores them to the original. How to use this program? Registry Rinse uses a different approach to the traditional approach. Most of the existing tools simply scan the registry in a brute force way. It makes the whole process extremely time consuming. For that reason, we have designed this program to scan your registry in a smarter way. The idea is to look for the actual problems instead of the symptoms. The detection algorithm will find the specific problems that exist. As a result, it will be able to fix the problems and make your Windows faster and more stable. 1. Start Registry Rinse. 2. Select your version of Windows. 3. Select an optional  Advanced  detection. 4. Add your email and you will get the download link in the email. How to use it? The first thing you have to do
