Android App Reviews: *ATTENTION: The below description is kept for the benefit of old people and those who might find it easier to read. If you have not yet done so, please get the full version now. Basically, this is a web server. The inbuilt web server was not what I wanted and was of limited functionality. I also wanted a web server that would allow me to store pictures, videos, files and other things that I want to share with people. Features: - Store the files in the "Droid File" folder (I am sure you know what that is) - All the files are categorized and easily accessible in the "Files" menu - High level of security with multiple encryption methods - Ability to use "regular" internet connections - Ability to use "mobile" internet connections - Full web server and FTP server functionality (See guide for how to use it) - Can serve the files from other APK apps - Can serve the files from other web pages - Can serve the files from other mobile pages - Supports Android 2.1 and up - Can not serve the files while the device is locked. - No ads - No need for root - Instant notification when a file is added/modified - Instant notification when a file is added/modified - Easy to use - Works on all devices running Android 2.1 and up - The app can be launched with a web link - The app supports Chrome and Safari as browsers - Can use 4G and 3G - Supports both HTTP and FTP All files are kept in the internal memory of the device, except for the "Disk Storage". Any updates you make will be sent to the web server, making it possible to download it to other devices. Description: A web server for your Android device. It is written in Java and PHP, the languages used by most web servers. We have a free "lite" version and a "full" version. The free version has limited functionality. The full version is free if you do not want to share the files with other people. It has the ability to create albums, playlists, share to other devices, and other useful features. The lite version does not allow sharing files. You will need to unlock the full version. The full version can be purchased by searching for "file server" in the Android Market. *ATTENTION: The below description is kept for the benefit of old people and those who might find it easier to read.
