Beat the clock mode allows you to unlock additional content that is tied to the clock, so you'll need to finish the game in a shorter period of time. Player Movement: Push block and dodge incoming attacks Pop Cancel any super attack to extend combos Special Attacks: Heavy Attacks: Punch or kick Burn Attacks: Fires a blast of different colored energy. Toxin Attacks: Attacker takes damage and inflicts the poison to their target. Instant Attacks: These attacks trigger instantly and allow for different finishers MerFight uses a lenient input style, requiring quarter circles to perform special and super attacks, while allowing simple tap inputs to be used to fill in for the lack of quarter circles. As a result, more aggressive players can successfully perform more aggressive attacks while relaxing and patient players can learn and perfect their more complicated attacks with practice. MerFight features an advanced combo system that allows players to chain attacks together and build new attacks through standard, special, and unique meter. Players can cancel any basic attack in mid-flight into an attack that is focused on high damage, high priority, or high utility. Staying in the air gives players a lot of extra time to chain attacks together, adding to the depth of the game. Players can perform a pop out of any attack that is currently in the air. This allows them to extend combos by cancelling any combination of high priority attacks. By using guard pops correctly, players can stay in the air longer and escape attacks by cancelling them. SPECIAL MERITO Vive Le Pain A special dance that adds a kick effect to each combo at the point of execution. NGAOLA A special high priority attack where both characters are knocked to the ground. OLBOOM! A special super attack that sends both players flying in the opposite direction of where they were standing. SCALE SENSORY A special movement and input scale where characters can move and attack more quickly. ACID CAGE A special effect that causes the target to take increased damage over time. ULTRA SERIAL An instant attack that is like a super and pops all at once, much like an air dash. MERZ Merite can have various effects, but when activated, it provides a buff to the character it's affecting. A dance that is performed when certain characters get knocked

Beat The Clock was an American television game show which aired on CBS from September 10, 1956, to March 24, 1965. It was the most famous edition of the string of game shows, Beat The Clock, Target, and also Supermarket Sweep and its sequel in the early 1970s. One of CBS' main game shows, it was hosted by three or four different people. Development On September 10, 1956, Beat the Clock premiered with its second host, actor Wally Cox, replacing actor and comedian Eddie Bracken on the premiere episode, becoming the show's "original first host". After airing successfully for several months and winning best-series honours, it was given a full-time host, comedian Cliff Fizdale, whose many credits include The Captain and Tennille Show and Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In. Fizdale introduced the band, Tone Loc. The show lasted for five years with only brief interruptions. It was during this period when the show adopted the "veal" theme shown above to convey (in some instances grotesquely so) the speed and impatience of contestants and a mannerism of the band. This visual remained until 1963 (after which it returned when the band changed their style); it is not clear if this was a CBS decision or instigated by Fizdale. Other show designers followed suit by adopting this, including fellow game show The Showdown, which premiered in September 1963. By the first quarter of the following decade, the use of this graphic for game shows in general was becoming prolific and standard. Other versions (1960s-1980s) Beat the Clock returned with a new host, William Schall, in 1961 and remained on the air for another three years. The show did not receive any Emmy Award nominations in any of its seasons. In 1963, it was revived for a one-season return (also hosted by Schall) on Fridays at 9pm. It continued as a summer replacement on that night from 1964-1965; it had a last-place finish in the 1964 Summer Olympics gameshow show The $64,000 Challenge. The show was billed as "Beat the Clock World Premiere" and aired along with Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve (1963) and The Jack Paar Show on that night. It was hosted by Johnny Carson for the second half of the 1964-1965 season. A new Beat the Clock aired in 1967, still hosted by Schall and the animatronic Mod Squad
